Candidates will be considered using information provided in the admission application. The following criteria will be used to evaluate each candidate: quality/rigor of the high school academic record, performance on the SAT or ACT, level of extracurricular involvement, quality of the written essay, interview with a member of the admission staff and content of recommendation letters.

Finalists will be invited to campus for competitive interviews March 2 & 3, 2012. This award is highly competitive—typically, more than 100 students meet the minimum guidelines for consideration.

Dixon Scholar Awards

Full Tuition or $7,500 per year

The Texas Methodist Foundation, in partnership with Southwestern, administers a scholarship program to benefit high-achieving African-American, Hispanic and Native American students. This program provides scholarships named in honor of a leading advocate of higher education—the late United Methodist Bishop Ernest T. Dixon, Jr. Dixon Scholar candidates must submit an admission application by November 15, 2011. Applicants also should rank minimally in the top 10% of their high school class (or if high school does not rank, have the equivalent of a 3.7 GPA on a 4.0 scale). There is no testing minimum.

Candidates will be considered using information provided in the admission application—quality/rigor of academic record, performance on the SAT or ACT, extracurricular involvement, quality of the written essay, personal interview with an admission staff member (optional) and content of recommendation letters.

Finalists will be invited to campus to compete for awards March 2 & 3, 2012, at which time, competitive interviews with the Dixon Scholar Selection Committee will determine scholarship levels.

$7,000 to $22,000 per year

Candidates must submit an admission application by the November 15, 2011, priority deadline, or by February 1, 2012. Qualifying for Scholarships: This scholarship program is intended for first-year students. Southwestern's transfer student scholarship program can be found online at www.southwestern.edu. All admitted students are automatically considered for all applicable scholarship programs. All scholarships are awarded regardless of financial need and are renewable annually for up to eight semesters if a minimum GPA, as stated in the award letter, is maintained. When demonstrated financial need is greater than the scholarship value, the scholarship will become part of the overall need-based award. Students may take the highest combination of their critical reading and math scores from separate test dates when calculating SAT scores. When an official class rank is provided by the high school, it will be used to determine scholarship eligibility regardless of grade point average. When a high school has a no-rank policy, other factors will be used to determine scholarship eligibility including, but not limited to, grade distribution information for that specific school and/or grade point averages. In all cases, Southwestern reserves the right to recalculate a student's eligibility for scholarships using a consistent, uniform, internal calculation that may exclude non-academic coursework. When a high school ranks specific segments of their graduating class—such as only ranking the top 10 percent—it will be assumed that an unranked student does not fall into that category for scholarship consideration regardless of grade point average.

Important Dates: November 15, 2011 – Application deadline for Brown and Dixon Scholar Awards. February 1, 2012 – Application priority deadline for all other scholarships and interview deadline for Brown Scholar and Dixon Scholar (optional) Awards.
